

Runnymede Site For JFK Tribute

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced Wednesday it is giving an acre of its most historic soil—the Magna Carta meadow of Runnymede—to the United States for a memorial to the late John F. Kennedy.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the House of Commons the assassinated president will be further honored by a scholarship fund to send British students to Harvard—Kennedy's alma mater—and to Radcliffe College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Runnymede is a government-owned meadow of about 100 acres, 25 miles west of London, where a group of barons forced King John to sign the Magna Carta June 15, 1215. The charter became the foundation of English political and personal liberties.

Congress Gets Kennedy Coin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Each member of Congress received a Kennedy half-dollar Wednesday from President Johnson with an accompanying note.

Johnson wrote the coin was one of the first of its kind issued by the Treasury and "I felt that it would have a special significance to you and that you should have it."

The White House said Johnson had paid for the coins.

Grand Duchess Abdicates

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—Grand Duchess Charlotte formally renounced Wednesday the crown she has worn through 45 years of war and peace in little Luxembourg.

The 68-year-old grand duchess, beloved by her 330,000 subjects in their 1,000-square-mile European common market country, announced she will step down in November in favor of her son, Prince Jean, 43.

She is timing her abdication with the opening winter session of the House of Representatives after the June elections.

Envoy Recovers From Stabbing

TOKYO (AP)—In the first trans-Pacific live telecast from Asia, Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda expressed Wednesday to the American people Japan's deep regrets for the knife attack on U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer.

Reischauer, who is making a good recovery from the bone-deep wound in his right thigh, sent word to his countrymen on the same program emphasizing the incident could have no possible effect on U.S.-Japanese partnership.

'Freedom Day' Registrations

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—Negroes queued up at the courthouse Wednesday in a new "freedom day" drive to boost their voter registration in this racially conscious Mississippi Delta city.

There were no incidents or arrests. This contrasted with the violence triggered by a similar registration campaign here exactly a year ago.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pierre Salinger, a man in a hurry, went into a closed-door strategy huddle Wednesday in Los Angeles while the courts pondered whether he could run for the U.S. Senate in California, and politicians argued why.

WISE OWL—William Hughes of White Haven, a sheet metal worker at the Tobyhanna Army Depot, holds safety eye glasses that saved his eyesight in on-the-job mishap this week. While doing some work in the post cafeteria, a piece of concrete tore loose, shattering the right lens of his glasses. Because of the nature of the safety glass, his eye was uninjured. For his good sense in always wearing safety glasses on the job, Hughes became a member of the Wise Owl Club, a national group.

Pocono Mt. Joint Schools Propose Record Budget

SWIFTWATER — A record budget of $1,215,075 for the 1964-65 school year was posted last night by the Joint School Committee of the Pocono Mountain School District at a special meeting in the high school in Swiftwater.

Just how this proposed budget—up $175,000 over the previous year—will effect taxpayers in the eight townships in the joint district will not be known until individual school boards draw up their budgets.

The budget will now be posted in the eight townships for 30 days and then returned to the joint committee for revision and adoption at a meeting sometime in April.

Then school boards in the townships of Barrett, Coolbaugh, Paradise, Pocono, Tobyhanna, Tunkhannock, Jackson, and the Borough of Mt. Pocono will set tax rates to raise the required money to operate the school.

The district started 1964 with a $64,972 balance on cash and investments. It will need $1,130,075 from the eight townships to balance the proposed budget. The largest item in the proposed budget is the $747,789 for instruction. This cost is up $94,000 over last year, due to an anticipated teachers salary increase and additional personnel.

The breakdown shows: principals, $34,900; consultants or supervisors, $3,907; teachers, $668,425; librarians, $5,650; guidance personnel, $15,180; and clerical and non-professional personnel, $11,483.

Other budgeted funds in the general account are: Administration, $38,665. The breakdown calls for: salaries for secretary and treasurer's office, $2,350; salaries for educational administration, $15,695; salaries for business administration, $11,350; materials and supplies, $4,005. Also expenses, $3,175; legal services, $1,000, and auditing services, $1,000.

Attendance services, $2,500. The breakdown shows: salaries, $2,000 and materials and supplies, $500.

Health services, $14,610. This is broken down into eight expenditures. They are: salaries of physicians and psychiatrists, $1,790; nurses, $10,450; dentists and hygienists, $950; clerical help for non-professional dental service, $100, and clerical help for non-professional help of medical and other services, $100. Also dental material and supplies, $70; medical material and supplies, $750; and medical expenses, $400.

Transporting students in the coming year will cost an estimated $122,475. This item is broken down into salaries for drivers, $19,500; mechanics and other garage personnel, $4,475.

Also gasoline, $6,000; oil, grease and other lubricants, $700; tires and tubes, $2,500; repair parts and supplies, $2,500; other materials and supplies, $600; automotive liability insurance, $450; other transportation insurance, $325. And transportation rental, $500; other transportation expenses, $4,125; replacement of vehicles and equipment, $15,000; contracted maintenance, $5,000, and contracted carriers, $60,000.

The proposed budget estimates it will cost $92,475 to operate the physical school plant. The breakdown includes salaries for plant engineers, $4,700; custodians and groundskeepers, $37,275.

Also operational material and supplies, $3,000; fuel for buildings, $19,000; utility expenses, $21,000; other operational expense, $300, and contracted operational services, $1,000.

Plant maintenance is scheduled to receive $39,835 from this budget. The breakdown shows: salaries, $6,500; materials and supplies, $2,500; replacing instructional equipment, $5,740; replacing non-instructional equipment, $825, and contracted maintenance services, $24,270.

Fixed charges will cost $65,900 in 1964-65. Included are: retirement contributions, $10,000; social security taxes, $15,000; workmen's compensation insurance, $1,500; employee insurance, $1,000; fire and extended coverage insurance, $5,000, and other insurance $400.

Student body activities, $7,900. The two items in this fund are materials and supplies, $7,000 and expenses, $900.

The budget envisions spending $64,926 on capital outlay in the coming year. Items involved are: sites, $16,970; buildings, $5,820; instructional equipment, $17,491; non-instructional equipment, $4,646 and student body activities, $20,000.

Tuition payments will amount to $1,000 next year and under additional cash requirements, an item called payroll payable is budgeted for $5,000.

LBJ Urges Southern Baptists To Crusade For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called on religious leaders of the South Wednesday, and Southern Baptists in particular, to get behind the fight for a strong civil rights bill.

Turning a routine greeting into a plea for help, Johnson stepped into the rose garden outside his office and told 150 participants in a Southern Baptist leadership seminar:

"No group of Christians has a greater responsibility in civil rights than Southern Baptists."

The Southern Baptists, claiming 10 million members, are the dominant faith in many parts of the Deep South. And it has sometimes been said that the clergy of the denomination has shown considerable reluctance about taking up the cudgels for civil rights measures. Reading from a text that obviously had been prepared with great care, despite the absence of any advance hint that a significant announcement was planned, Johnson told the visiting church leaders:

"Your people are a part of the power structure in many communities of our land. The leaders of states and cities and towns are in your congregations and they sit there on your board. Their attitudes are confirmed or changed by the sermons you preach and by the lessons you write and by the examples that you set."

"Prophets of Our Time" Johnson said the civil rights cause "demands prophets in our time, men of compassion and truth, unafraid of the consequences of fulfilling their faith."

He said: "There are preachers and there are teachers of injustice and dissension and distrust at work in America this very hour... who seek to turn back the rising tide of human hope by sowing half-truths and untruths wherever they find root."

"Help Us" Looking directly at this audience, Johnson said:

"Help us to answer them with truth and with action. Help us to pass this civil rights bill and establish a foundation upon which we can build a house of freedom where all men can dwell."

In this fashion, Johnson became the first chief executive to make a strong and direct appeal to Southern Church leaders to lead their congregations into the civil rights fold.

However, White House press secretary George Reedy likened Johnson's remarks to statements the President has made on other occasions on the subject. Reedy said they reflected "the extremely high priority" the President accords to the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

Applaud President The Southern Baptist leaders gave Johnson warm applause when he concluded his appeal. Johnson said the efforts of people in government are not enough to pass the civil rights bill.

"I am proud to say," he added, "that in this cause some of our strongest allies are religious leaders who are encouraging elected officials to do what is right."

But, Johnson said, more must be done and, in this connection, asserted that Southern Baptists have as great a responsibility as any group.

Biracial Unit

Peace Returns To Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—One of few roving bands of Negro youths still operating in racially disturbed Jacksonville severely injured a white man Wednesday, police reported.

The city generally quieted down after two violent days. A biracial committee came into being with the aim of restoring peace.

The committee was formed with the sanction of Mayor Haydon Burns but it still was not an official arm of city government.

The white man who reported he was attacked by Negroes, Lester Phillips, 53, was in serious condition.

Patrolman M.P. Garris said Phillips was attacked by a group of 12 to 15 teen-age Negroes, who hurled a brick and struck him in the forehead.

"His condition is bad," said a nurse in the emergency room at St. Luke's Hospital.

"He has a probable skull fracture and a jagged laceration about three inches long in the forehead," she said.

The nurse said Phillips told her he was attacked by Negroes in a fringe area of white and Negro residences.

The violence came as this port city began to calm after one killing, a score of injuries and dozens of acts of vandalism Monday and Tuesday.

President Johnson in Washington and Gov. Farris Bryant in Tallahassee took note of the troubles here but decided no federal or state action was warranted.

Three Negro leaders joined with five white business executives to form the biracial committee less than an hour after Burns proposed it at a press conference.

Rudolph Pearson, state and city president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was absent however. He said it will have to be determined later whether the NAACP participates.

'Men Screaming'

Boat Capsizes, 20 Spill In Bay

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A large wave capsized a 65-foot sport fishing boat within 50 yards of shore Wednesday, spilling 20 persons into the turbulent waters of Boynton Beach Inlet.

Four were killed and at least a half dozen others were trapped for horrifying minutes beneath the overturned craft.

Hours after the tragedy, one person was still missing.

"Oh God, it was unbelievable," said one of the survivors,

Jerry Hopkins of New Carlisle, Ohio. "We didn't know what was happening. Then we were in the ocean... fighting for our lives. I was under water for what seemed like forever and finally came up gasping for breath."

"I heard men screaming," Hopkins said. "I'll never forget those screams. One man was yelling for his wife. She had been with him on the boat and I had seen them together a few seconds before it happened."

The craft, a drift-fishing boat named Two Georges, was returning from an excursion in the Atlantic Ocean when the wave struck, according to spectators on the shore. The boat swung around 90 degrees and then flipped over.

The crew of three and the 17 passengers—ranging from teenage boys to elderly couples—were pitched into the frothy inlet, which is near Palm Beach, 65 miles north of Miami.

Japan Hit By 40,000 In Seoul Rally

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—About 40,000 protesting students marched in Seoul and 2,000 others fought with soldiers near the presidential mansion on Wednesday. It was the biggest such outpouring since a student-led revolt toppled President Syngman Rhee in April of 1960.

Target of the student protests was the possibility that the government may give away too much in current diplomatic negotiations with Japan, once the overlord of Korea.

While the parade was peaceful, tear gas grenades and stones whizzed in a clash between about 2,000 students from Hanyang University and 400 troops 200 yards from the gate of President Chung Hee Park's hillside mansion.

The hostilities broke off after Park's secretary, Lee Hui-rak, announced the president will meet with student representatives later this week to discuss their objections to the trend of talks in Tokyo intended to normalize relations between South Korea and Japan. The youths dispersed.

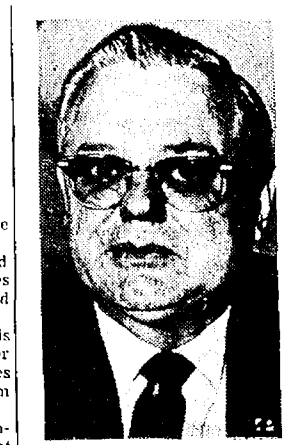

The 81-year-old general "is alert and conversing," a hospital spokesman said.

MacArthur's doctors at Walter Reed Army Medical Center tempered their optimism with a warning that the outlook is still "guarded."

U.S. Army Surgeon General Leonard D. Heaton said he could not say when the general would pass his crisis.

MacArthur was recovering from a March 6 gall bladder operation when he developed severe internal bleeding in the digestive tract on Monday.

Happiness is a perfume you cannot pour on others without spilling some on yourself.

TAKES RUBY CASE—Dr. Hubert Winston Smith of the University of Texas was named as Jack Ruby's new head legal counsel.

Fullbright Pushes Cuban Acceptance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called Wednesday for prompt revision of the Panama Canal Treaty and acceptance of Communist Cuba.

He also said it would be "extremely useful" if the United States could be more flexible in its approach to the issue of Communist China.

In a Senate speech, the Arkansas Democrat urged abandonment of the American boycott of Cuba "because it has failed," and ruled out two other alternatives— invasion and blockade—because of the dangers of nuclear war.

"The (Prime Minister Fidel) Castro regime is not on the verge of collapse and is not likely to be overthrown," he said.

This leaves the option of accepting it "as a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger," he said.

The crew of three and the 17 passengers—ranging from teenage boys to elderly couples—were pitched into the frothy inlet, which is near Palm Beach, 65 miles north of Miami.

Filipino Chief Says U.S. Must Stay In Viet Nam

MANILA (AP)—Withdrawal of American forces from South Viet Nam "could lead to disaster," President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines said Wednesday.

But he cautioned the United States against intervention in Asian affairs and said the current crisis between Malaysia and Indonesia could be settled if "Asian nations get together to solve their problems."

President Macapagal made the statements at a private audience with Wags Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, who is on a tour of Asia.

Describing the Vietnamese war, where 16,000 Americans are involved in the Vietnamese fight to wipe out Communism, Macapagal said he believed "withdrawal of Americans or neutralization of Viet Nam would affect all the countries of Asia."

"It could lead to a disaster, especially for those countries near Viet Nam," he said.

Macapagal was the third Asian leader who has told Gallagher in the last 10 days that the United States should retain military units in South Viet Nam until the war there is won.

'Have-Not' Nations Told To Help Selves

GENEVA (AP)—The United States called on backward nations Wednesday to make do-it-yourself contributions to the general welfare. They were urged to reorganize their economies and forget traditional fears of investment by foreign capitalists.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball lectured the have-not countries in a general policy speech to the U.N. trade and Development Conference, warning that their road to prosperity will be long and hard.

Ball urged them to open their doors to foreign capital and forget "the cliches of the past." He told them to get together in their own regional groups to expand their markets. Finally, he said, they must reform their internal policies and organization.

"Economic development is an intricate and difficult process," he said. "It has proved difficult for the industrialized countries who have gone through it in the past, and it will be so for the newer countries going through it now."

The speech drew criticism in some quarters of the 122-nation conference. Cuba used the occasion for an attack on the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba.

However, "realistic" was the word used by several delegates in comment on Ball's remarks.

A Latin American said: "Ball came here like a Wall Street broker and laid it on the line to us. We appreciated his clarity."

When Cuba's turn came several hours later, Ernesto Guevara, economic chief in Fidel Castro's government, rose with a direct attack on the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba.

He said the United States should not expect Indonesia or Malaysia, both much younger countries, to react in the same manner, internationally speaking, as the Philippines.

"The Philippine government is now 15 years old and the United States should be proud before the eyes of the world because of the Philippines," he commented. "We are making democracy work. Democracy is here to stay."

SEATO, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, he said, is "still useful" and could lead to an expansion among other Asia nations. SEATO will hold its 10th anniversary meeting in Manila next month.

Referring to the informal association of Malaysia, Philippines and Indonesia, known as Maphilindo, he said "all these arrangements are opening steps for cooperation among all countries. The Maphilindo idea means Asian nations getting together to solve their own problems."

Macapagal has been striving for six months to resolve differences between Malaysia and Indonesia.

Macapagal was the third Asian leader who has told Gallagher in the last 10 days that the United States should retain military units in South Viet Nam until the war there is won.

State News Roundup

Liquor List To Promote State

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Milk Control Commission Wednesday issued a new order to permit dairies to give gifts worth up to $1.25 to established customers with new babies.

The commission, which keeps tight control on milk traffic in Pennsylvania, said in its new order: "A licensee is limited to one gift to established and retail customers having particular and exclusive pertinence for the use of newborn children."

Dairies Allowed To Give Presents

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Governor's Committee of 100,000 Pennsylvanians for Economic Growth will use an advertisement on the state official liquor price list to recruit new members.

The committee, formed last October, so far has signed 15,000 members to carry the message of Pennsylvania's economic and industrial advantages throughout the nation.

Abraham D. Cohn, liquor board chairman, said Wednesday a recruitment and application will be printed on the back of the new price list coming out April 1.

Relief Policies

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The state Public Welfare Department announced Wednesday three changes in relief policies.

Under the most sweeping revision, the department will withhold rent payments for relief recipients living in dwellings deemed in violation of housing and sanitation codes. The practice was expanded statewide after a test period in Pittsburgh.

Arlin M. Adams, department secretary, said the agency's county offices would hold in escrow the amounts normally budgeted for housing allowances when requested by local officials. The money will be released only when the violations are corrected.

Other changes will:

- Double to $20 a month the relief checks.
- Allow an adult on relief to earn without affecting his amount an adult on relief can come set aside for the education and training of children.

10 Incumbent Congressmen Face Primary Fights

(Editor's note: The clamorous sounds raised by major candidates in an election contest often overshadow the legislative races. A closer look at the contests involving elected officials who make the laws of the state and nation is undertaken in a series of three articles by the Associated Press Harrisburg staff. The first is on Congress.)

By RICHARD L. GRAVES, Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP) — Ten of Pennsylvania's incumbent congressmen face opposition in their bids for re-election by their parties in the April 28 primary.

They are among the 25 incumbents — 12 Democrats, 13 Republicans — seeking new terms in 1964. Rep. William H. Milliken Jr., Sharon Hill Republican, is the only congressman not seeking re-election. He has served the 7th district (Delaware County) for three terms.

Another seat in Philadelphia's fifth congressional district was left vacant by the death of Rep. William J. Green Jr., former city Democratic chairman. His son, William J. Green III, is seeking election to his father's unexpired term as well as nomination in the primary for a full two-year term. He has six challengers, despite his backing by the city Democratic organization.

Eight Republican and seven Democratic congressmen are opposed for re-nomination. In all of the state's 27 congressional districts, Republican candidates are unopposed in 15 districts; Democrats are unopposed in 17 districts. That includes the incumbents.

In these 10 districts neither the Republican nor the Democratic candidate is opposed for nomination: 1st (Philadelphia); 3rd (Philadelphia) and 14th (Allegheny), all Democratic controlled; and the 9th (Chester and Lancaster); 13th (Montgomery); 16th (Dauphin, Juniata, Lebanon, Perry); 17th (Cameron, Centre, Clinton, Columbia, Lycoming, Montour, Potter, Snyder, Tioga and Union); 18th (Allegheny); 22nd (Armstrong, Cambria, Indiana) and 27th (Allegheny).

The Republican primary contest that has attracted the most attention is in the sprawling 23rd district (Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, McKean, Venango, Warren).

These incumbents, Albert W. Johnson, Snethport, is being challenged by state Sen. Richard C. Frame, Franklin. Both men are attorneys.

Frame is Venango County GOP chairman. Johnson was elected in a special election last fall to succeed the late Leon H. Gavin, Oil City Republican. Johnson's election to Congress came after 16 years in the state House of Representatives, where he was majority leader.

The winner would face Democrat John Still, Bradford funeral director, who is unopposed.

Another GOP race drawing attention is for the nomination to succeed Milliken. Vying are John T. Kenna, Sharon Hill contractor; G. Robert Watkins, West Chester trucking executive; John W. Weinman, Wallingford attorney; and Carl E. Mau, Media publisher.

Watkins, a former state senator, has the backing of the powerful county GOP organization headed by John J. McClure.

The Delaware County race is one of two on the Republican side of the primary having as many as four contenders. Incumbent Rep. Joseph M. McDade, 10th district (Lackawanna) has three challengers.

In the 26th district (Fayette, Greene and Washington) incumbent Democrat Thomas E. Morgan, Fredericktown physician, has seven challengers.

An oddity of the competition there is that one of the challengers also is named Morgan, John R. Morgan, Washington machinist, and two other challengers both have the same last name — Mike Packrall, Centerville businessman, and George Packrall, West Brownsville clerk.

Only two of the 99 contenders for congressional nominations are women. One is Ruth Marmon, who is one of Green's opponents. The other is Mrs. Eleanor Kahn Mahady, Greensburg, who is the only opponent of incumbent Democrat John H. Dent, Jeannette.

Tomorrow—the state house of representatives.

Capital Building Funds Approved

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton signed into law this week $7,539,450 in appropriations earmarked for construction and capital improvement in his 1964-65 general fund budget.

The money is allocated for work on National Guard armories, general and mental hospitals and state colleges, among other facilities.

Chain Gang Fugitive Freed

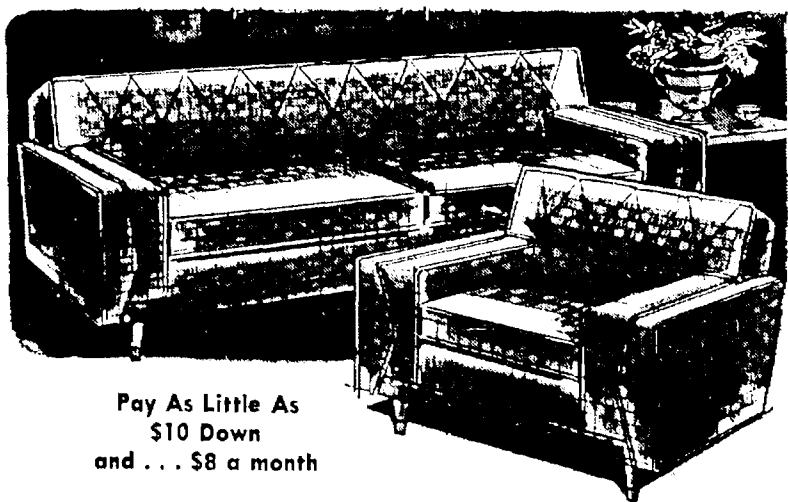

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Erie County Judge Burton Laub gave a Negro fugitive from an Alabama road gang his freedom Tuesday, because papers requesting his extradition were not properly drawn.

Arlie Brown, 31, left Erie County Prison, where he had been held since Pennsylvania state police picked him up on a fugitive warrant last Oct. 12. Before his arrest, Brown had been working as a fruit picker in the Erie area for two years and had no local criminal record.

An attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Gerald McNeil of Erie, said he was asking for Brown's release chiefly on grounds of inhumane treatment accorded him in Alabama.

McNeil said that Brown was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor for by an all-white jury for a $90 robbery.

Brass Quintet's Concert Lauded

By Ernest Farmer
EAST STROUDSBURG — The New York Brass Quintet appeared at East Stroudsburg State College Monday evening under the auspices of the local Community Concert Association in a program representative of four centuries of ensemble music for brass instruments. The players were Robert Nagel and Robert Heinrich, trumpets, Paul Ingraham, French horn, John Swallow, trombone, and Harvey Phillips, tuba.

In a program that was varied and demanding, these expert performers demonstrated outstanding individual skills and a sensitivity for cooperative effort that is more frequently associated with fine string quartets than wind groups.

The tonal balance was excellent and the delicate matter of individual and collective intonation was by and large beyond quibble.

Acoustical Poor
Unfortunately, the group at no time registered with a solidissimo, but this we attribute to the sound-gobbling characteristics of the heavily-draped stage and the generally poor acoustical properties of the hall rather than any deficiency on the part of the players.

(Parenthetical query: Is there any reason why all of the local Community Concerts should not be presented in the decidedly superior East Stroudsburg High School auditorium?)

The program highlights for this listener included the "Contra-punctus No. 1" of J.S. Bach as arranged by that 20th Century pioneer in the field of brass music, Robert King. Despite some minor miscalculations toward the end of the piece, the contrapuntal interplay of the instruments was delightful. The "Quintet, Opus 73" of the contemporary English composer, Malcolm Arnold, closed the first half of the program in exciting fashion with devilishly difficult and demanding work for each player.

The chief novelty of the evening was a "Suite for Brass Quartet and Piano" by Robert Nagel. Mr. Nagel, who is the organizer and leader of the group, momentarily put aside his trumpet to appear in the role of composer and pianist.

His five-section suite is a well-constructed showcase for the individual members of the ensemble and the group as a whole. The work also demonstrates that in addition to being a superb trumpeter, Mr. Nagel is no slouch as a composer and pianist.

The program notes for the New York Brass Quintet state that it is "The only ensemble of its kind concertizing throughout the world. . . . We can only add, more's the pity. If this idea has not already occurred to their own booking

Employment Takes Dip

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—January non-agricultural employment in the Middle Atlantic region dropped 353,200 to 11,869,800, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Tuesday.

The region comprises New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The decline was primarily seasonal with all major industry divisions reporting losses, the bureau said.

Rain Thursday and again about Sunday will total around one inch.

Western Pennsylvania — Temperatures averaging three to five degrees below normal and frequent periods of precipitation are expected in the next five days. Normal high temperatures range from 46 to 51 and normal lows about 30. There will be only minor day to day temperature changes. Precipitation will average near one-half inch melted as almost daily showers and occasional snow flurries.

er local hearing than is possible in a one-evening appearance in a hall of limited capacity for an audience that has been presold a season's "package."

Specifically, booking arrangements should be negotiated which would include their performance before an audience of young instrumentalists — with whom this county happily abounds — in order that their superb accomplishments might serve as an inspiration for the many junior and senior high school bandmen who were unable, either for reasons of schedule or finances, to hear them last evening.

If the "cultural explosion" of which we have heard so much in recent years is, indeed, to make a loud post-graduation BOOM, then young instrumentalists must hear, learn, and enjoy the unparalleled fun and discipline of making music together in small groups.

Worth Investigation
We submit that this is a project well worth investigation by the several active and admirable "band parents" organizations in the county, in addition to possibly re-activating the many expensive and now dormant musical instruments residing in attics, basements, and pawn shops.

Two Vehicles Demolished, 3 Injured In Accident

LEHIGHTON — A tractor-trailer was demolished yesterday at 1 p.m. on Rt. 29 in the borough of Parryville, when it collided with a pickup truck. Two persons were injured in the crash.

William S. Stine, 27, of Schuylkill Haven was operating the south-bound trailer, owned by Mark E. Yoder Inc. of Schuylkill Haven when the vehicle collided with the rear of the pick-up also going south on Rt. 29.

The driver of the demolished pick-up truck, Martin L. Helmer, 35, of Lehighton RD. 4, was going right at the Parryville intersection towards the Rock Hill Sand and Stone Co. when the collision occurred.

Dorothy Helmer, 31, a passenger in the pickup suffered a fractured right collar bone, laceration of the left foot and multiple abrasions and bruise.

Also Helmer's son, Rodney A., 3, suffered a broken right arm and another son Dennis M., three months old, was admitted for observation, along with his wife to the Palmerton Hospital where they were confined for treatment.

Lehighton state police investigated.

Johnson's Sermon

President Johnson proved to 150 Southern Baptist leaders yesterday that he is a better evangelist than most of them.

Strongly urging them to support the civil rights bill, despite its unpopularity in Southern Baptist congregations, the President said bluntly:

"Your people are a part of the power structure in many communities of our land.

"The leaders of states, and cities and towns are in your congregations and they sit there on your board.

"Their attitudes are confirmed or changed by the sermons you preach and by the lessons you write and by the examples that you set." See story on Page 1.

The President gave the Baptist ministers who speak to 10 million whites in the South a difficult assignment. They cheered his words and the spirit of his message.

But it will not be easy for them to go back home from the White House and convince their Christian congregations that the civil rights bill must be passed "to build a house of freedom where all men can dwell."

The significance of the President's sermon lies in the fact that he is a Southerner himself and that Southern Baptists have never been pushed so hard by an American President to change their ways and support civil rights legislation.

President Johnson has made it very clear, particularly to his Republican critics, that he intends to fight for the civil rights bill as it was passed by the House of Representatives.

Republicans have accused him of being ready to trade away controversial sections of the House bill in order to ease it past the Southern filibuster in the Senate.

The President made a clear political commitment during his national television interview recently to pass the House civil rights bill in the Senate.

He has now made an equally clear moral commitment.

Arming Friends And Enemies

Many Americans consider United States foreign policy and foreign aid a simple "giveaway." But giving necessary foreign military aid can be a very sticky problem.

Consider the complexities of military aid to Greece and Turkey, two NATO allies of the United States. These questions must be answered:

Should we give new military aid to either country when they are about to go to war over Cyprus, the latest in a series of historical conflicts between two people who are ancient enemies?

The Pentagon wants to rearm Greek and Turkish ground forces with modern weapons because it is known that Bulgarian Communist forces are well-equipped and have been increased in recent years.

But Congressional distaste for foreign aid spending has cut foreign military aid to $1 billion a year and the Defense Department says it can't do the job in Greece and Turkey under the present budget.

If modernization of Greek and Turkish armed forces were possible, how would the United States allocate funds without enraging one or the other nation?

Greece has a longer border with Bulgaria. Should it get the lion's share of new ground equipment?

This is not a "giveaway" proposal. And these are not simple problems. But the United States is faced with thousands of similar complexities in its dealings with more than 100 nations in the world.

Comment Of The Day

"General war is impossible. In a meeting of moments you can wipe out 50 to 100 million of our adversaries or they can, in the same amount of time, wipe out 50 or 100 million of our people, half of our population in a matter of an hour.

"So general war is impossible."

—President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Walter Lippmann

Smooth Transition

By Walter Lippmann

Washington is having a fairly mild case of the unease which invariably accompanies a change at the top. The best remedy for it is to recognize it for what it is, as a normal human experience which only time can cure entirely.

For no succession can be wholly smooth, human nature being what it is. Too much is at stake — too much has been lost and too much has been gained. But a succession can be kept smooth enough if the principals and the supporting cast, the mind — readers and the key — hole peepers, the inside doers and the tale — bearers, can be made to remember that the molehills, which they would work into mountains, are normal.

During the administration of William Howard Taft they used to say that his predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt, woke up every morning, girted his teeth and clenched his fist, crying out that once again that man Taft had slept in his bed.

In royal families, the life of the crown prince is likely to be a hard one. For he is a walking reminder of the king's coming death. We have only to read how Queen Victoria treated her son Edward VII, and George V, his son Edward III.

As Theodore Roosevelt was jealous of William Howard Taft, so Franklin Roosevelt jealously avoided sharing his secrets with his Vice President.

Elmer Hoover felt about his predecessor, Mr. Truman, as we know how he felt about his successor, Mr. Kennedy, and we know how he felt about his own Vice President, Mr. Nixon.

The phenomenon is so common that a public man ought to be ashamed of himself not to recognize it in himself.

The obscure and remote nature of the assassination in Dallas was such that the fact itself and its consequences were at first impossible to accept.

Multitudes, even at great distances, felt at first that this could not be because it should never have been that so young and brilliant a figure was wiped out unexpectedly and in a few minutes. For the inner circles, this was even more so. Because the crime was unacceptable, grief was insufficient. If it was not inconceivable, it was a kind of disloyalty to say that the king is dead, long live the king, and to go on as if the unspoken had not happened.

There is no doubt that the Johnsons, beginning with the President himself, have understood this warmly, and so far as I know there has been no instance of the new courtiers crowding the old ones. The terrible blow fell directly on the Kennedy circle. They must now have become aware that the legend of John F. Kennedy, of which they are the custodians, is a great temptation to designing men.

There are already visible those who are speculating for their own advancement on the restoration of the Kennedy power. They are the Democratic politicians who would run Robert Kennedy for the Presidency via the Vice Presidency. And there are, of course, the Republican opponents who see, as Mr. Nixon has already made manifest, that if only a fight can be instigated between the Kennedy following and the Johnsonians, the Republicans will profit by it.

It would have been better if the attorney general had dissociated himself at the outset and completely from any organized attempt to usurp — that is the right word for it — the prerogative of the President in office to say the final word about his own Vice President.

The mistake has now, it would appear, been rectified. But it was a mistake, and it is the reason why the inevitable unease of almost every succession has threatened to become inflamed and angry. All the rest of it, such as the transition from a Corbinian to a DeLoach style, is only interesting.

The unease will not, we may believe, become divisive. It goes without saying that President Johnson needs the support of the Kennedys and of the especially brilliant men Kennedy recruited. For the Kennedys, on the other hand, it is evident that they have a profound interest in the public fortunes of Lyndon Johnson. Were he to be defeated, it will not be said that this was because he was not up to the standard set by John F. Kennedy. It will be said, rather, that even Lyndon Johnson was unable to heal the divisions in the party and in the country.

The days move in and then are gone. Somehow, we meet our daily needs. Because the odor lingers on of a trendily, unremembered deeds.

The Allen-Scott Report

Non-Candidate Kennedy Real Active

WASHINGTON — For a professed passive bystander, Attorney General Robert Kennedy and his close adherents are being singularly active in the intensifying scramble for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

While Kennedy is publicly disclaiming doing anything to seek that prize, there are numerous backstage indications of vigorous efforts to drum up support for him.

There is no evidence this is being done with the knowledge of the White House. To the contrary, inquiries in those quarters produced surprise and guarded but unmistakable disapproval.

Two significant factors stand out in these undercover operations:

(1) They are primarily concentrated in a group of states that will have large delegations at the national convention — Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and California.

(2) Special attention is being focused on ethnic and labor groups, which strongly supported the late President Kennedy and exert much influence in state and local Democratic feeling their way and have yet to firmly establish themselves.

But the attorney general is very knowledgeable about these potent voter blocs, and has valuable ties with key leaders — such as Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, Martin Luther King, A. Phillip Randolph, and a prominent Washington attorney with extensive contacts with ethnic elements and organizations throughout the country.

This lawyer, an ardent Kennedy follower, is arranging a series of private meetings between the attorney general and various ethnic leaders. The latter are being told the attorney general is eager to work closely with them in coping with their particular problems.

The Revealing Trail — Graphically indicative of the scope and potency of this backstage campaign to weld an effective nationwide organization behind the attorney general are the following:

Massachusetts — Senator "Ted" Kennedy, the youngest brother, is forcefully organizing a convention delegation to be headed by him and completely under his control. Every member of the delegation is being hand-picked strictly on the basis of loyalty to the Kennedys. If there is the slightest doubt about it, they are not on the list.

New York — Stephen Smith, young Kennedy brother-in-law who was the real boss of the Democratic National Committee under the late President, is busily lining up Kennedy support among state leaders — with the enthusiastic help of certain upstate and Manhattan leaders. These politicians are not hostile to President Johnson, but they are very strong for "Bobby" Kennedy as his running mate and are making no bones about that.

Ohio — The attorney general played a key role in persuading astronaut John Glenn to seek the Democratic senatorial nomination against incumbent Stephen Young, and stands to gain much in the party's state organization if Glenn wins.

Michigan — Walter Reuther, auto worker boss, has been in close touch with Kennedy for a long time on the political situation. Reuther conferred with the attorney general within 24 hours after his brother's assassination. Auto worker delegates to the Atlantic City convention will be militant Kennedy boosters.

California — Pierre Salinger decided to try for the Senate after talking it over at length with his one-time boss, the attorney general. Salinger did this long before he informed the President of his intention. The President told newsmen he didn't learn about it until two hours before Salinger announced it publicly.

Intriguing Discussion — A highly revealing statement of Kennedy camp thinking and strategy has come from one of his closest lieutenants — Edwin Guthman, press chief of the Justice Department. Guthman dropped this significant remark in the course of a somewhat hectic telephone talk with an ace Midwest political writer.

Said Guthman, "If the delegation should nominate the gates to the Democratic convention general for vice president, he will accept." The key words are "delegates to the convention."

Publicly, the attorney general has said selection of the No. 2 candidate is up to the President. But that isn't what is being asserted privately. Guthman's statement indicates that in the opinion of the Kennedy camp it will be the "delegates to the convention" — and not the President — who will pick.

The political editor published an article that Kennedy had issued an ultimatum to Johnson that he accept him as running mate or Kennedy would challenge him for the top place.

Within hours, Guthman reached the writer by phone and vigorously denied his startling report.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Trophy It was customary for victorious Greek armies to erect a trophy monument at the site of a battle. The monument or memorial was erected at or near the spot on the battlefield where the enemy was turned back or routed.

If a tree was nearby, the captured arms were hung from its limbs and some of the other spoils of battle were heaped at its base. If there was no tree close by, a post was erected to serve the purpose.

Since the memorial signified the spot where the enemy was turned back, the Greeks called it a "tropalon," a turning point.

"Tropalon" entered Latin as "tropaeum," passed into French as "trophée," and emerged in English as "trophy" — a memento signifying victory or accomplishment.

Dear Abby

You Struck Out, Honey

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the eighth grade and I like a boy in my home room. I called him up last night and told him that a girl friend of mine wanted his picture, but she was too bashful to ask him for it, so I was asking for her. He said he was sorry but he didn't have any more. Then I called him back and told him that the picture really wasn't for a girl friend, it was for me, and maybe he could dig one up. He said he didn't have any more and he wouldn't know where to dig one up from. Then I called him back again to ask him what page our history assignment started on, but this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him. I feel terrible. Should I call him up and apologize for bothering him?

FEELS TERRIBLE

DEAR FEELS: No! This boy has your number. Forget his!

DEAR ABBY: I am not mentioning any names and, if you print this, please don't use mine, but what do you think of a husband who is not man enough to speak his own mind? He and his wife have worked out "signals" between them. When they are at a party and HE wants to go home, he either mops his brow with a handkerchief or crosses his legs, and then SHE suggests that it is late and they should be heading for home.

"ON TO THEM"

DEAR "ON": I think they're wonderful. I didn't know teamwork like that still existed.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter. She is 29 so I can't tell her what to do, but she is still my daughter and I worry about her. Abby, she is five feet five, and I will be the first to admit that she is overweight, but she is big-boned, like I am, and she never looked as heavy as she was. She weighed 235 last July. That's when she started going to this doctor who specializes in reducing people. She lost 60 pounds and she's still dieting. I have begged her to stop before she kills herself, but she doesn't listen to me. Abby, please, as one mother to another, help me save my daughter.

TEARS IN MY EYES

DEAR TEARS: Unless my subtraction is wrong, your daughter still weighs 193 pounds! She has to lose another 60 before she's in the proper weight range for her height. Trust the doctor, and don't demoralize your daughter. Calories are tough enough to battle without the additional burden of an hysterical mother.

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — While the Scranton Administration unquestionably pulled a somewhat masterful victory during the tumultuous legislative session last week on the unemployment compensation revision issue, the critical, crucial point seemingly has been completely overlooked by on-the-surface pundits and opposition Democrats.

What lies behind the Scranton victory (as opposed to the "victory" itself) is the key to the clue as to why Mr. Scranton has been projected so heavily into the national limelight. This in itself is a study in contrasts insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned.

Let the record show that historically Keystone State chief executives have made it a point — almost an inborn piece of strategy — to rant and rave (literally) before the legislative branch in demanding, enjoining, threatening, that this or that "key" piece of legislation go through — "or else."

In recent years there have been some splendid rave sessions on the part of Pennsylvania's governors, fighting spiritedly to put it mildly in behalf of their particular, petulant goals: rave sessions, that is, before the legislative branch. The object of course has been to scare the legislative branch off the lawmaking gentry; a somewhat determined, grotesque insistence that the legislation go through, or the great Keystone State would descend into a funk. (It did descend into an economic funk, thrades notwithstanding.)

With Mr. Scranton, such has not been the case. In the UC revision program, he made his initial pitch before lawmakers and that was that. In the end it squeaked through without a vote to spare in the House, complete with threats of harkari, jumping off the bottom step of Capitol Hill, etc.

This however is not of particular moment. With Mr. Scranton there were no rants, no raves. In typical Scrantonian manner he lined up his ducks well beforehand in peculiar Scranton fashion — and then almost premeditatedly, watched them fall down in sequence.

This has been an oddity with the Governor — which even he perhaps does not realize.

For opposition Democrats, the one point seemingly worth remembering is that Mr. Scranton has yet to lose — although the odds in every case seemingly have been stacked against him. He won his congressional seat in spite of a heavy Democratic edge; he won the governorship in spite of an almost overpowering Democratic edge; he won the UC battle in the one year — this critical election year 1964 — when such a subject theoretically never should have been discussed, let alone brought up for the radical change he now has successfully managed!

The key to the Scranton success-in-spite-of — adversity role seemingly stems not so much from overt effort on the part of Mr. Scranton as from perhaps almost unconscious inadvertent cannyness, which in its present sense is about as expediting as anything can be to his Democratic opponents who just can't seem to find the lid to fit the Scranton jar.

To his columnist the key to Mr. Scranton's success, or ability, goes back to the days just before he took office as Governor. At that time there was much discussion as to whether he would go along with Senator M. Harvey Taylor as President Pro Tem of the State Senate; the conviction being that Mr. Scranton would do well to divest himself of as much aroma of the factionalized GOP "Old Guard" as possible.

Spring Is Here

Spring is here. Whether the weatherman tosses a few more snowballs at us, is another question. But for all intent and purpose, the gentry of the Pocono Mountains are doffing winter clothing for lighter apparel.

Walter Sebring, assistant Monroe County superintendent of schools, hit the highways yesterday sporting a suit jacket instead of his usual overcoat and hat attire.

The Rev. Joseph Carr, pastor of the Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, was one of many seen on Main St. sporting a summery look. However, the good reverend wasn't brave enough to wear his Bermuda shorts, a must during the hot summer days.

Even Ennie Turzot Jr., the Wind Gap resident who sells sticks in Stroudsburg, has the urge to meet the warmer trend. Turzot, though, keeps his head in the winds in the winter, refusing to wear a fedora no matter how rough the elements.

Fred Fetherman, the Stroudsburg varsity "B" Association head, never lets the weather bother him. Fred lives the outdoors and needs the climate with seasonable wear. But he offers the advice, no hat, please.

Another man who is like a frisky colt when spring comes is Bill Altier, the affable host up Marshalls Creek way.

Bill likes the Poconos to a good spring tonic that can be served the year around. And you don't need heavy clothing either to make it a tasty tidbit, he vows.

Dr. Evan Reese, East Stroudsburg surgeon, has the spring fever. The outdoor enthusiast can't wait to get in some fishing. In fact the East Stroudsburg Joint Area School Board director has plans for a sortie that will pin-point better weather upon us. Things must be looking up. The herds of area residents who invaded the southland are returning en masse. That is a sure sign spring is here.

'Pleasant Valley Manor' Name Of County Home

KELLERSVILLE — The Monroe County Home will be renamed "Pleasant Valley Manor," according to County Commissioner John M. Price.

Price made the announcement yesterday at the second monthly meeting of the county agency heads at the county home. The meeting is slated for the last Wednesday of each month, called by the commissioners for better liaison between county agencies and departments.

Price said that renaming will apply to the whole complex of buildings when a current $600,000 construction project is completed; completion is scheduled for early 1965.

"I think the renaming is a wonderful idea," Alton Jones of the redevelopment authority said.

Price also showed a chrome-plated shovel which the commissioners used early in March to break ground for the new addition. He said, "It will be inscribed with the names of the commissioners and will hang in either the office of the new addition or the commissioners' office in the courthouse."

Monthly Reports

Kathleen Fehr gave the monthly report on the Pleasant Valley Manor. "We had 32 men and 41 women as guests here at the beginning of February," she said.

"We had three admissions during the month, one discharge, five deaths; this left a total of 29 men and 41 women, or 70 persons at the end of the month."

"Twenty guests — of the total of 70 — are non-paying. The rest either pay or receive some assistance from the state or through social security."

"Total income from all sources during the month amounted to $2,621.63. Disbursements totaled $5,573.42."

"The total value of farm products produced at the home came to $549.07. This is money saved," she said.

She added that the manor had received $17,200 from the state for reimbursement due to property damage when the new four-lane highway was laid.

Sheriff Edward Metzgar gave his report: "Since all previous records were removed by former sheriff Jake Altomese, it is impossible for me to give a comparison between this year and last."

"I will therefore compare February's business with January's. During February, 48 original writs were served compared to 19 for January."

"Six executives were served compared with five for January. The sheriff transported three persons to institutions compared with five for January."

"There were 19 commitments during February compared with 47 in January. Releases in February totaled 21, compared with January's 45."

"There were 23 inmates at the end of February compared with 25 in January."

"During February, 1,878 meals were served at the cost of 19 cents per meal. During January 2,198 meals were served at a cost of 31 cents per meal."

"The decrease in cost is due to stocking and inventory during January," the sheriff said. King Beers of the redevelopment authority gave his report:

"On the S. Courtland St. project, we received authorization from the Housing and Home Finance Agency to contract for real estate services."

"This will include acquisition appraisals, re-use appraisals, and title services."

"We met with the acquisition department of the HFA to devise a fair price for the land owned by St. Matthew's Catholic Church. We also decided that it will be mid-May before we can talk prices with the owners of Courtland St. properties."

"We told the Acme market that we desire occupancy of its land by August and told them that a liquor store would share the premises of an adjoining building."

"We received a letter stating that the Erie-Lackawanna railroad will sell a 10 by 750 foot strip of land to us for the widening of Crystal St."

"A discussion was held with the East Stroudsburg Citizens' Advisory Committee on FHA loans and the possibility of new, low-price housing for project relocatees."

"We delineated the probable

1964 costs of the projects to the East Stroudsburg borough council."

"We informed two business concerns of approaching acquisition, and informed residents of the area that we intend to start purchasing about June 1."

"On the Lincoln Ave. project, the disposition documents are ready for partial execution, and we have discussed potential developers."

"We are also conducting periodic interviews with residents on relocation," Beers said.

Heart-breaking Situation
Alton Jones, also of the authority, said, "We have a heart-breaking situation there... there's nowhere for the persons living there (along S. Courtland St.) to go."

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor, gave his report: "We had 350 visitors who registered during February, but many more used the office than that. We also sold $137 worth of maps."

Nauman said that the office was engaged in drawing new maps and updating the filing system. This is mandated by state law, he added.

Warren Loney, county treasurer, gave his report: "There was $185,232.10 in the general county fund at the beginning of February," Loney said.

"During the month we took in $34,341.73 in receipts. This made total receipts and balances of $219,573.83."

"Total disbursements came to $71,749.69, leaving a balance in the general fund at the end of February of $147,824.14. This compares with $151,951.69 in February, 1963, when the county institutional district was included in the fund. This year it is separate."

Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, register and recorder, gave her report: "During all of 1959, we recorded 3,567 various papers. Last year we recorded 4,261. Where we had 20 mortgage and deed books used in 1959, last year we used 29 books."

"We recorded 159 wills and letters of administration in 1959, and 224 in 1963."

"There were five condemnation maps in 1963 and none in 1959. I also want to note that all fees exacted by the office are set up by law. The prices were set in 1960 when I took over the office and we checked our fees with other counties and found them comparable."

Civil Defense
Mrs. Katherine Miller of the Civil Defense gave her report: "The federal government will pay half the cost of the $120,923 project in the courthouse basement."

"The state will give us a teletype in the office to improve communications. This installation will be at no cost to the county."

Mrs. Miller also described the warning system for the county and the auxiliary police units.

William Reaser, chief clerk of the county commissioners, noted that the commissioners attended six special meetings during February besides the twice-weekly regular meetings.

Gas Firm Lauded For Bangor Work

BANGOR — Special praise for the efforts of the Bangor Gas Co. for its work in replacing gas pipes on Market St. were expressed at a special meeting last night by members of Bangor Borough Council and Mayor Quintus LaBar.

The meeting had been called to air the problem of delay on the work on Market St. Collins and Maxwell of Easton are the contractors retained by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department to reconstruct the street from S. Main St. to 12 St.

The Bangor Gas Co. it was noted, has already replaced its main line and all home connections between Fourth and Sixth streets. It was also reported to council that the Bangor Water Co. is expected to start work on the lines of that company within a week.

Councilmen had indicated that criticism being placed upon the utility companies was unfounded and that it was probably a misunderstanding on the part of the contractor.

Councilman Merlin Tucker reported five trees on Market St. should be removed from the right of way. Elwood Parsons, of the sidewalk committee, reported there were some indications that curbing would have to be replaced but this would be determined later.

Daniel Phillips, of the sewer committee, was instructed to contact the Turzto estate and the Bruchi properties, property owners between First and N. Main streets, to urge them to make immediate sewer connections.

Council and Mayor LaBar expressed hearty favor for the construction of a new borough youth center. Gilmore Strunk, councilman from the Second Ward, reported that a meeting of all presidents of local civic organizations will be held next week to discuss the proposed new civic center.

Consideration was also given by council to the purchasing of new storage space for borough equipment. Action on the question will be taken at the regular meeting April 6.

John Casoli, president, conducted the meeting and instructed the property and law committee in company with the borough engineer to offer a recommendation at the next meeting.

For protestants and catholics, the feast is the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Though the manner differs, they honor the same happenings.

For Jews the time of the Passover begins Saturday. It commemorates the sparing of the Jewish children by the angel of the Lord. When pharaoh refused to allow the Jews to leave Egypt, God killed the first-born of the Egyptians.

The angel of the Lord marked each Egyptian house with lamb's blood, but passed over the houses of the Jews.

The feast lasts seven days, during which time no leavened bread may be eaten.

Salvation
For Christians, Holy Week means salvation. On Holy Thursday — today — Christ and his disciples enjoyed the Last Supper.

On Good Friday, Christ was tortured, beaten, and forced to drag a heavy cross up a hill. At the top of the hill, he was nailed to the cross and hoisted up to die.

On Holy Saturday Christ was dead.

On Easter Sunday He came back and pushed aside the stone that entombed Him and stepped from the grave. By this agony, death, and triumph over death, Christ expiated the sin of mankind and filled a reservoir of strength for His followers.

And now it's 1,931 years after that bloody day in Palestine. It's the year 5,724 on the Jewish calendar.

In the stone churches, chapels; in the rough clapboard buildings; even on a mountain-top in Monroe County, people draw from Christ's strength this week.

In the Temple Israel in East Stroudsburg the Jewish gather to worship God and think again of the triumph of God in sparing their children.

What of those who don't dwell on the miracles and mysteries of religion? The earth renews them by renewing itself—at this holy season, one can almost hear life bursting out—one can smell the new earth.

While the protestants and Catholics celebrate one set of events wrought by God, and the Jews celebrate another set of events, both celebrate the same God.

And while the religious celebrate God, and the others wonder at the spring and smell the new earth, they all celebrate the same creation.

This week, truly, is deep, and solemn, and holy.

PM Administrators Favor 4-District School Plan

By Gil Murray
Daily Record Reporter
SWIFTWATER — The three top administrators in the Pocono Mountain Joint Junior-Senior High School all agreed yesterday a four-district plan of county reorganization would be best for their school.

Taking part in the discussion on the upcoming school system reorganizing were C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal; J. Lawrence Wile, high school principal, and Neil Palumbo, assistant high school principal.

The three educators-administrators maintained the overall curriculum in use in the mountain district more than meets the minimum requirements advocated by the Department of Public Instruction.

The DPI has stated districts the size of Pocono Mountain cannot maintain an integrated curriculum designed to provide a comprehensive education for students.

The trio also advanced various arguments favoring a four-unit plan over a single county unit, which they term as "being too vague to envision any definite educational advantages."

Concerning Pocono Mountain's curriculum, Dunlap said, "When we brought our curriculum to Harrisburg for the department's approval they told us, 'This is one of the best that has been brought in here.'"

"I don't see how we could get a better curriculum by going into a countywide unit. The only thing we lack is a complete vocational education program," he said.

Wile said he would be glad to match Pocono Mountain's curriculum against any school in the county. For a school our size we have a wonderful curriculum."

Minimum Requirements
The minimum required curricula offerings as set forth by the DPI are:

Biology; physics, including atomic physics; chemistry; music, instrumental and vocal; art, both two and three dimensional; adapted physical education; special activities for the physically handicapped; and the physically handicapped child.

Also English; mathematics; United States and Pennsylvania history and government; economics and after September, 1965, at least two modern foreign languages, one of which shall be given in a minimum four-year sequence.

Compared to this, according to Wile, Pocono Mountain offers the following courses in its high school:

Mathematics; general mathematics; algebra one and two and advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry and trigonometry. (Among other courses authorized by the DPI are calculus, analytic geometry, probability, and statistical inference and foundations of mathematics.)

Social studies; world geography; problems of democracy—including economic, political and regional geography; European history and sociology. (Other courses authorized by the DPI, but not taught at Pocono Mountain, are introduction to social sciences, cultural anthropology, introduction to political science and psychology.)

Modern foreign language; Six-year sequences in French and Spanish. (Other courses authorized but not taught here are the "critical languages of German, Russian, Portuguese and Chinese.

Classical language; Pocono Mountain teaches two years of Latin but no Greek.

Humanities; The school has no humanities department however, according to Wile, such courses as philosophy, literature, history and cultures are taught in conjunction with other courses.

English; dramatics, public speaking, debating, creative writing, composition — in all classes, and both developmental and remedial reading in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Other courses authorized but not taught are literature; American, English, European and world; semantics and logic.

Science; physical and earth and space science, biology and academic and general chemistry and physics. Other courses authorized but not taught include physiology, astronomy, electronics, organic chemistry and qualitative and quantitative analysis.

The main drawback to the Pocono Mountain curriculum seems to be too many subjects are included under one general heading. Such as grouping economic, political and regional geography under the heading of Problems and Democracy.

The three veteran educators agree that a single school system in the county would have certain advantages, such as, a single administrator, a curriculum director and a possibility of some special courses.

Don't Know Position
However, Palumbo summed up their feelings when he said, "If they (the DPI) would come out with definite plans of how a county unit would operate the whole situation would be clarified."

"Right now we don't know where we stand. Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg are in the middle of building programs. If they told us what we would do with the four buildings (the county's four high school buildings) then we could assess the situation."

In answer to a DPI claim that 360 students are needed in each grade in order to offer a comprehensive education, Dunlap said, "Just how is a county unit going to help us do this?"

"We would have no more pupils in each grade than we do right now under the junior and senior high schools were built to put all students in one building."

All three took issue with a DPI claim that smaller units cannot offer the required supervision of teachers in order to improve teaching methods and man, Russian, Portuguese and Chinese.

"We supervise our teachers in addition to handling our other duties. In a large unit we might do this supervision job but could probably do better if we had more clerical help."

"We are able to find incompetent teachers before they reach tenure. We have weeded out several teachers this way. When we spot a weak teacher we try to observe this teacher more closely," Dunlap said.

He said he observes the classroom work of every teacher in the system at least once a year and new teachers five or six times a year.

Very Few in Category
In rebuttal to another DPI claim that smaller units are using teachers to teach courses in which the teacher only minor in college, Dunlap said:

"There are very few teachers who are teaching a class here with only a minor in that field."

Dunlap said the high school just finished being evaluated for accreditation by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"They have made an oral report to us, which we are not at liberty to disclose at this time, and it included certain recommendations for improving the education at Pocono Mountain."

"Under reorganization we will strive to implement these recommendations and we will continue what we have always done here, and that is constantly strive to give our students the best possible program," he said.

In accessing the advantages of reorganization, Wile said, "If we are able to stay as we are but in a union district, it is going to put pressure on the school board to do some of the things we have been asking them to do."

He also said teachers are against a single county unit because of the fear of being transferred from one school to another.

"Teachers are against it because they don't want to move. Many of them told me this. Teachers are here or at East Stroudsburg or at any other school in the county because they want to be. They just don't want to be moved around," Wile ended.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some things are not a matter of conscience but of semantics. For instance, whether you are saving time or wasting time depends on your definitions.

Even living in a motel, a woman can work up certain housewife responsibilities — washing clothes, tidying up bureau drawers, sewing on buttons, and these were the things I had conscientiously planned to do yesterday morning—until Val Lee called up to see if I wouldn't like to have a second breakfast.

The breakfast I didn't really need but one of the exasperating things about modern life is that you get so caught up with the things you have to do, ought to do, feel as if you ought to do that there is no time left over to do what you want to do, and one of those things was as simple as walking across the road to see the Lees.

While we were having coffee overlooking the creek, which below Kerra Bridge widens into a pool deepens to one hole 15 feet deep, what should come down the road but the pro shop. It's an amazing thing to see a house come waddling down the road somewhat like a duck, and even more amazing before we could see the truck it was riding on.

It's a very handsome little house maybe 100 years old with a bay window and arched window frames sort of like a church, and it used to stand as a summer house or guest house at Norton's Castle, now the Hansen home. It has served as a pro shop at Clermont for a lot of years, and now that they're building a new shop, it's going to be a sort of half-way house along the stream just under the 15th tee.

Well, who could spend a morning more usefully than watching a house cross a bridge? And that had just been satisfactorily accomplished when Zandy came home with the new convertible. What better way to inaugurate what felt like the very first day of Spring than joining them in a ride over into Cherry Valley, and by a back road I'd never been on before into Poplar Valley and back by way of Quiet Valley with everything smelling like new grass?

So there went that morning, clothes still dirty, buttons still missing. But I contend it was not a wasted morning. The cruel waste would have been to have missed the sights, the sounds, the smells and the companionship for something that can well be done on a dark, cold night. I call it saving time when it produces a bank account of memories on which you can draw the next snow and sleet storm.

When Raymond Swing was suspended from Oberlin College for failing grades, he embarked upon a career of journalism which brought him to international prominence and is the subject of a lively professional memoir, "Good Evening!" published Wednesday (his 77th birthday) by Harcourt, Brace & World. The book is a spirited reminiscence of Mr. Swing's experiences as a foreign correspondent and radio newscaster who, from World War I through the 30s was assigned to such focal points of world interest as Berlin, Turkey, London and Moscow. At the peak of his radio career he had a listening audience of 37,000,000 people in the United States, South America, Africa, Asia, the British Isles and Europe. Among his most enthusiastic followers were King George of England, Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins, Winston Churchill, George Bernard Shaw, Albert Einstein, and General George C. Marshall.

Mr. Swing and his wife, Meisung Euyang Loh, Chief of the Asian feed program of the Voice of America, were honored at a dinner by the Overseas Press Club in New York on the eve of the book's publication. The attendance was a glittering one... and had the affair been public, thousands who became Swing's friends through the media of press and radio would doubtless have joined the crowd. Certainly, his book should be heartily welcomed as the chronicle of a man who interpreted history for the masses as he himself observed it in the capitals of our changing world.

Another Harcourt, Brace & World publication that should find a ready-made and eager audience is Peg Bracken's "I Try to Behave Myself." Miss Bracken is vivacious, witty and pungent, and delighted women everywhere with her earlier bestsellers, "How I Hate to Cook Book" and "I Hate to Housekeep Book."

In Miss Bracken's book she gives simple and witty solutions to problems of etiquette. Good etiquette for a man, she thinks, is "whatever makes a woman feel more like a woman without making her feel weak-minded." For a woman, it is "whatever makes a man feel more like a man without making him more harassed and put upon than he normally does anyway." Part of her guidance is in how to handle ticklish situations: the guest who wants to know what your husband earns a year; or the one who doesn't know how or when to leave when bedtime approaches. Her solutions are amusing but sensible. So is her attitude toward books of advice in general, particularly those that offer tips to women on how to attract men. Most of the women who read these, she feels, are women who are already loaded with charm and would find themselves in hot water if they accumulated any more. For such a woman to read such a book, she suggests, it is as silly as it would be for a vegetarian going to a great deal of trouble to make friends with the butcher.

If you are interested in any book that is not stocked at Wyckoff's, remember that we can usually order them for you, and while you're waiting you can pass the time with some of the excellent books that cram our shelves and our rental library.

Braves Blast Koufax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee and Minnesota freely pelted the National League's Most Valuable Player and the American League's Rookie of the Year Wednesday in exhibition baseball games.

The Braves jumped on Sandy Koufax en route to an 8-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers while the Twins battered Gary Peters in their 7-5 defeat of the Chicago White Sox.

Koufax, who now has been hit hard in two straight appearances, gave up three runs and six hits in three innings. The Braves' Eddie Mathews rocked him for a single in the first inning and a run-producing triple in the third.

Peters fumbled a left-hander, also pitched the first three innings and was rocked for five runs, three of them in the first inning. Bob Allison accounted for two in the first with a home run. Jimmie Hall singled across two more runs in the third.

Gene Freese drove in four runs, including a game-winning two-run homer, as Pittsburgh edged Baltimore 5-4. Freese's homer came in the sixth off Chuck Estrada. He had singled home a pair in the fourth. Ron Brand also homered for the Pirates in the sixth.

Bond Homers
Houston nipped Detroit 4-3 on Walt Bond's two-run homer in the seventh. Frank Lary shut out the Colts until rookie John Paciorek singled home two runs in the sixth. Bond hit his four-bagger off Pete Craig.

Ron Santo drove in three runs in the Chicago Cubs' 12-4 triumph over San Francisco. Orlando Cepeda led the Giants with a home run, double and single.

In other games, Philadelphia bombed the New York Mets 10-0. Cincinnati beat the New York Yankees 2-1, the Los Angeles Angels blanked Cleveland 2-0 and Kansas City trampled St. Louis 10-3.

Jucker: Kidney Ailment

CINCINNATI (UPI) — University of Cincinnati basketball Coach Ed Jucker was treated at Christ Hospital Wednesday for a kidney condition and his personal physician said, "he ought to be back on the job Monday."

Dr. Thomas Jenike reported, "Jucker is doing great. It's really not a big thing." The physician explained the coach had been bothered by the infection for a number of years. He underwent an appendectomy Feb. 9.

University officials said Jucker, who has a 99-16 record with the Bearcats, does not have any pressing engagements. A spokesman added that the recruiting program is underway but Assistant Coach Tay Baker would handle those duties until Jucker returned.

Mrs. Jucker said her husband was in "good spirits" and the official hospital daily bulletin listed his condition as "fair."

This meant he was "doing as well as expected," a hospital official said.

Other Engineers making the trip to Cornell are Bill Stuart (Wilson, Conn.), second in the Easterns at 130; Harley Ferguson (Sherwood Forest, Md.), second at 157 and heavyweight John Blengworth (Roselle Park, N. The Eastern titleholders competing for the Engineers are captain Doug Koch, 147, (Beltsch) and Junior John Gladish, 191, (Bryn Athyn). Koch decided Penn State's George Edwards to win the 147 pound BIVA crown. Gladish edged Steve Speers of Temple to annex his championship.

The United States is due to launch Syncom III in early May and the reception from this satellite is expected to be better than from Syncom II because it will have a broader band width.

Syncom III is intended to go into stationary orbit over the equator in mid-Pacific. This is achieved by giving the satellite a forward speed corresponding precisely with the rotation speed of the earth so that the vehicle remains in fixed position relative to fixed positions on earth.

Through the use of Syncom, there could be 24-hour service if solar batteries used by the satellite function as they should.

Eternal Optimist Al Lopez Sees End Of Yanks Reign

By JACK HAND

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Al Lopez, the eternal optimist, thinks the Chicago White Sox have a good chance of ending the New York Yankees' reign in the American League. He also gives Minnesota, Baltimore and Detroit a shot at the pennant.

Fundamentally, this is the same team that finished a surprising second last year, 10½ games behind the Yanks. Don Buford, a highly regarded rookie second baseman, and some new faces on the pitching staff are the main additions.

How did Lopez expect to make up 10½ games?

"Don't forget the Yankees finished third one year (1959), when Lopez' White Sox won) and they were 15 games behind. They picked it up and then some in one season. We think we are going to improve. A year ago most of the writers were picking us any place from fifth to eighth."

"A Great Job"

"Peter Ward and Dave Nicholson did a great job for us and we expect them to improve. Our pitching was the best in the league and Gary Peters and Juan Pizarro were one-two in the league. We have some new boys who will help."

But Mr. Lopez, the Yanks won so easily without Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

"I don't care about Mantle and Maris being out. They had a year like we had at Cleveland in 1954. No matter who they put in did well. They couldn't have done better with Mantle and Maris."

"I expect Ron Hansen to pick up 30 points and J.C. Martin about 40 points. Nicholson has tremendous potential. He should improve if he can cut down on those strikeouts and we are working on it. Joe Cunningham was hurt last year. We'll have him or somebody better all year long. And our pitching will be better."

Convincing Talker
The Senior is such a convincing talker that it is wise to retreat and look at the records before going overboard.

Buford, 336 at Indianapolis, does look like a Rookie-of-the-Year candidate to follow in the steps of Ward and Peters, the top freshmen of 1963. Buford has taken over Nellie Fox's old job at second.

Cunningham at first, Hansen at short and Ward at third round out the infield.

Martin and Camilo Carreon will split the catching.

The starters are Peters, Pizarro, Ray Herbert, John Bushard, Joel Horlen and Eddie Fisher, with Hoyt Witham and Don Mossi, if his sore elbow comes around, in the bullpen.

Hawks Top All-Star NHL List
NEW YORK (AP) — Five members of the Chicago Black Hawks, including Stan Mikita, the scoring titleholder, were named Wednesday to The Associated Press' National Hockey League All-Star team for the regular 1963-64 season.

Tim Horton, a Toronto defenseman, was the only non-Chicago player selected. Gordie Glenn Hall, defenseman Pierre Pilote, left winger Bobby Hull and right winger Ken Wharram also represented the Black Hawks.

Mikita, a center, topped the NHL with 89 points, two more than Hull, who led in goals with 43.

Montreal's Charlie Hodge, a goalie, and Jean Beliveau, a center, were named to the second team along with right winger Gordie Howe and defenseman Doug Barkley of the Detroit Red Wings, defenseman Elmer Vaska of Chicago and Frank Mahovlich, Toronto left winger.

Underworld Figures Connected To Liston

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators heard testimony Wednesday about underworld figures still hanging around Sonny Liston, although the former heavyweight champion formally severed ties with them several years ago.

Jack Nilon, Liston's business adviser, told the Senate antitrust subcommittee:

1. He hadn't asked any questions when Liston said he wanted to sign over valuable stock to Sam Margolis, who according to previous testimony once owned an apartment house jointly with racketeer Frank (Blinky) Palermo.

2. Joe (Pep) Barone, an underworld figure who once managed Liston, was sent for by Liston before the Feb. 25 fight when he lost his title to Cassius Clay.

3. The subcommittee heard Nilon in the second day of its probe into circumstances surrounding the Liston-Clay fight.

Hearings by the subcommittee in 1960 brought testimony that Liston's contract was controlled by three underworld figures.

Barone was at Liston's house the day after the fight, along with a mob of other people, Nilon said, and he gave Barone a check for $3,000 or $4,000 and charged it to Liston, but didn't ask Liston's permission to do so.

Nilon said Barone was broke and needed the money.

About the fight itself, Nilon said as far as he knew Liston's arm was okay when he entered the ring, although he had a history of bursitis.

But he said Liston had refused to take Clay seriously, hadn't trained properly for the fight and couldn't believe he could lose.

Many Feuds
Nilon said he and Liston feuded constantly before the fight as he tried to get Liston to train.

He admitted that even improperly trained he had thought Liston could beat Clay, and still does.

Liston complained about hurting his arm after the first round, Nilon said, and it got steadily worse.

But Nilon said he was "living in high hopes (he Liston) would land a bomb and put the boy away. . . I felt Sonny could beat this guy with one hand."

Finally, when the bell sounded for the seventh round, Liston said he couldn't elench his left fist any longer and stopped the fight, Nilon said.

Suggests Bifocals For Golf Duffers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Are you hooking off the tee? Overshooting the greens? Missing those three-foot putts?

Don't fret, cautious August Nelson, executive secretary of the Better Vision Institute—all you need is a pair of bifocal glasses.

"Bifocals?" you may ask with alarm. "They're for grandpas."

Maybe so, admits Nelson, who spends a lot of time in his Park Avenue offices trying to figure out why Johnny can't read, but they should be standard equipment for two-thirds of the people in the United States.

That's 67 out of every 100 and, according to Nelson, includes golfers as well as major league baseball players, trying to raise their batting averages, and tennis players, wondering why they hit the ball on the wood of the racket.

Getting Worse
"Man's eyesight has been getting progressively worse ever since he became civilized and quit having to fight for his existence," Nelson said. "Deficiencies in vision are general. But you can't get top athletes to wear glasses, as much as they need them. It's an emotional reaction. A case of vanity."

Nelson, a low handicap golfer in his middle 40s, puts most people in three categories — hyperopic (far-sighted), myopic (near-sighted) and presbyopic (aging eye muscles).

"Good vision is essential to good golf," he said. "It starts when you address the ball. How many times have you heard the admonition: 'You looked up.' Failing to follow the ball in flight and losing balls because of had eyesight becomes an annoyance factor. Then, of course, there's putting — reading the green and judging stroke and distance."

Nelson thinks many golfers would be better players, and many baseball players better hitters, if they squelched their pride and wore bifocals, which, incidentally, were invented by Benjamin Franklin.

SPECTACULAR SPILL IN RACE—A rival crew, foreground, speeds by as David Wheeler hurtles over his passenger, Arthur Poulton, after they were thrown from their motorcycle and sidecar during race at Leicester, England. Wheeler suffered a fractured skull and Poulton escaped with minor injuries. Their vehicle hit a safety rail coming out of a bend at 60 miles an hour and turned over.

Cy Barrett Says

Retraining Usual

By Cy Barrett, Jr.
DEAR CY:
We were startled to read your comment about workers of the future, and how they may have to retrain two or three times during their lives. This is the story of Bert (my husband). He has had four jobs in 18 years and all different. Each time he changed was for personal betterment or due to no fault of his own.

BERT'S WIFE

DEAR MRS. BERT:
Although "retraining" is becoming another breakfast byword, like "toast" and "grapefruit," it is misunderstood. As you and Bert will attest, it isn't the retraining which is so painful... but the earning gaps. Retraining is part of every successful person's life.

DEAR CY:
Can you give me information in regards to the trustworthiness of insurance companies? I need some insurance and got two mailings from companies outside our state. Are out-of-state insurance companies hard to collect claims from?
B. G. SMITH

DEAR MR. SMITH:
Geographic location of insurance companies is not important, but whether they are licensed by your state is vital. For the protection of policyholders, each state maintains an insurance department which licenses companies to survey insurance within the state boundaries. Buyers of insurance have no recourse through their state, when vexed with non-licensed insurance companies. Write your state insurance department for information regarding the companies in question. Also check with local businessmen before you buy from the companies.

7 Confirmed At Moravian Church

CANADENSIS — Rev. George Weinland officiated at the Confirmation Sunday of seven young people into the Canadensis Moravian Church. The confirmed spent the past year in study of christianity and the tenets of the Moravian Church. As each white-robed teen knelt before Rev. Weinland for the blessing, a passage of Scripture was quoted to be used as a guide for his or her life in the church.

Each answered the questions in the rite of Confirmation litany prior to the blessing. Members of the class were Holly Ann Thomas, Jean Ann Nolan, David Russell, Bush, Adolph Walter Locher, Wade Darrel Mikels, Warren Henry Springer and John Pasold Williams.

Officiating at the service before the confirmation was Brian Kent. Special music from "The Holy City" was prepared by the members of the Junior and Senior Choirs. Mrs. K. Edward Price presented an organ Prelude, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" prior to the service. Mrs. Eleanor Ziegler directed the senior choir with Mrs. Donald Craig in charge of the junior choir.

DEAR CY:
Our employer thinks he is heaven's gift to free enterprise. In a recent memo to employees, he said, "So many of you have mentioned 'take home pay' that I feel you should appreciate the bites taken by the government from your paychecks. Therefore, beginning next month, your first paycheck will be for everything you have earned in two weeks. Your second paycheck will be for what you have earned with the total monthly withholding taxes and social security taxes deleted." This is going to cause a lot of family budget trouble, Cy. What about it?

BILL DE CREEK

DEAR BILL:
Your boss will be on the hook two weeks out of every month. Anyone skipping between the first and fifteenth will leave him behind to pay their withholding and S.S. taxes. His plan seems easier for the company than paying employees with two paychecks each payday — one for "take home pay" and the other for Uncle Sam which is endorsed back to the firm who remits to Washington. Some family budgets will be wracked, but the boss will demonstrate his point: Government bureaus are where they keep the taxpayer's shirt.

NEW CREAM CURBS ACNE PIMPLES

Milani, Fla. (Special) ARTEX, a new Estrogenic cream for treatment of Acne Pimples was evaluated and found to be "superior to any product previously tested." Controlled clinical tests of ARTEX proved that 100% of the young men and women tested were completely cleared or definitely improved from ugly Acne Pimples. Industrial Arts Fair May 21-22

STROUDSBURG—The Industrial Management Club of Monroe County will hold its first annual Industrial Arts Fair May 21 and 22 in the National Guard Armory in East Stroudsburg.

Richard Seip, chairman of the club's community activities committee, said yesterday more than 400 student entries have been received from Stroud Union, Pleasant Valley, East Stroudsburg Area and Pocono Mountain high schools.

"The fair has been arranged to show the people of Monroe County what students are doing in the industrial arts section in schools. This area includes woodworking, art metal, pattern making, molding, leather, machine shop and mechanical drawing," Seip said.

According to fair rules entries will be judged on craftsmanship, originality and the planning it took to complete each project.

Mount Pocono

Mrs. John Sutton
Dial TE 9-7409

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wirth, 1034 N. Webster Ave., Scranton, announce the birth of their first child, in Medical Center East, Scranton. They have named her Kristen Louise. She weighed 7 pounds and arrived Sunday, Mar. 15. The mother is the former Lee Overgard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Overgard, Mt. Pocono. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. William Wirth, Scranton.

Miss Marie Miller, captain of the Heart Fund Drive in Mt. Pocono, has announced that donations amount to $187.00. She extends thanks to the following women who helped to collect it: Mesdames Wm. Murray, Raymond Knorr, John Grose, James Fitzsimmons, Patrick Horgan, Melvin Pingle, Alvin MacWilliams, Bernard Pallo, Brian Walker, David Bisbing, L. C. Ingersoll, George Bean, Francis OBoyle, Wm. Thorne, James Horne, Alvin Stiff, Stanley Oney, Richard DeHaven, Art Keiper, Robert Lansdowne and Roy Gross.

"We feel these projects require many hours of work on the student's part. Therefore, students should be given an opportunity to show their projects to the public," Seip explained.

Selected As Judges
The club has selected the following men to act as fair judges: Woodworking and furniture making—Richard Phillips of Phillips Woodworking and Fred Ducklo of Ducklo Brothers. Pattern making and molding—Jesse Kulp of Kulp's Foundry and Homer Brong of Pocono Foundry. Leather—Henry Reader of Vassar Import Bag Co. and Joseph Kendall of Olympic Reconditioning Co. Mechanical drawing—Calvin Butts of International Boiler Works and Harry Shields of Patterson-Kelley.

Single School Plan Opposed

SWIFTWATER —Pocono Ski Resort Assn. of Swiftwater, went on record at its last meeting "as being opposed to the present school districts of Monroe County being merged into one school district."

"The resolution passed by the association opposes the action on the grounds 'that such an act tends to make a longer day for our children because of increased travel.'"

Also because that to support this program, an increase in present taxes would be inevitable, and that such a merger will take the administrative powers from local citizens who know the needs of the individual areas.

Red Cross Service Available

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County residents who plan to enter hospitals as patients outside the county and expect they will need transfused blood, are urged to contact local Red Cross headquarters in advance, wherever possible.

Mrs. Helen Green, Monroe County Red Cross executive director, said yesterday: "We will give you a printed application for the blood, which must be presented to the doctor or surgeon in charge. He will then file it with the proper department and you will not be charged $25 or $50 for each pint of blood, or whatever the particular hospital charges."

"Administration costs, however, are strictly between the patient and the hospital," she added.
Mrs. Green said, "This free blood service for residents of Monroe County is made possible by community support of area blood drives."

The Bloodmobile, she reminded, will be at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, on Monday, April 13, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

'64 Chevy II Super Sport with V8 power

...and just the place to enjoy it

Chevy II Super Sport with Bucket Seats

Find out for yourself what this Chevy II can really do. If there are hills nearby, let it give them a good going-over. Then see how quickly it gives slow-moving trucks the run-around. With its new extra-cost V8 all you ever have to do is give the accelerator an inch, and this Chevy II Super Sport Coupe will take a mile.

And this great highway performer looks the part it plays so well. A glance at its all-vinyl interior will tell you that. Those inviting bucket seats are made of ultra-soft foam cushioning. The door-to-door carpeting is so thick you can feel it through your shoes. There's your choice of either the floor-mounted Powerglide or Four-Speed Synchro-Mesh transmission.

Both are optional at extra cost, along with a Positraction rear axle, simulated wire wheel covers, AM-FM radio and a host of other accessories. And for all its new power, Chevy II rides so softly it seems to glide along the highway. That's because it has high-mounted independent coil springs in the front and Mono-Plate single-leaf springs in the rear. Its unitized well-insulated Body by Fisher shuts vibrations out and keeps road noise down to a whisper.

With everything Chevy II Super Sport has going for it, it's no surprise your Chevrolet dealer is anxious to show you its price tag. Because that's the only thing about it that isn't super.

CANADENSIS — Children in Barrett Township from pre-school age to 12 years old will gather at High Acres Park Saturday at 1 p.m. for the annual Easter Egg Hunt, sponsored by the Barrett Junior Women's Club.

The children will hunt in two groups, pre-school to and including seven and eight to twelve inclusive. Two live rabbits, donated by Pocono Rabbit Farm, Canadensis, will be awarded the children who find the gold eggs.

Stuffed rabbits will be awarded to the children who find the silver eggs. All children attending the hunt will receive candy provided by the sponsoring organization.

Members of the club will be aided in the hunt by the Barrett Volunteer Fire Department. A firetruck will be at the park for display and to be used as a focal point of operations. George Huguenin, fire chief, made the announcement at the fire meeting Tuesday night.

Mrs. Richard Kice, chairman, said all members of the club will donate two dozen colored eggs and attend the final meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday at the park.

The congregation will join with other congregations at noon Friday for the annual Good Friday service held at the Mountainhome Methodist Church.

Easter Sunday, the Sunrise service will begin in the church at 5:30 a.m. and progress to the Seese Hill Cemetery for the remainder of the service which is to coincide with the sunrise at 6:25 a.m.

The traditional brass choir will provide music for singing. Participating are Doug Marvin, Keith and Wade Mikels, Holly Ann Thomas, Rosemary Garis and Roy Williams.

Following the service, a coffee hour will be held in the basement of the church under the auspices of the Ladies Guild.

8 Common Errors Made In Filing Tax Return

PHILADELPHIA — Are you making one of the eight most common errors in itemizing deductions of your Federal income tax return?

Kenneth O. Hook of the Internal Revenue Service in the Philadelphia District announced yesterday the errors made by taxpayers in filing were compiled from records of the Internal Revenue Service and consists of unallowable deductions found on returns.

None of the following expenses are deductible: Funeral expenses, water taxes, dog licenses, hunting and fishing licenses and social security taxes.

Also, Federal excise taxes on jewelry, furs, gasoline, furs, cosmetics, life insurance premiums, title fees, fines and penalties, he said.

Hook said that when a return is audited, any of the above deductions must be disallowed and the taxpayer must pay the difference in tax.

He added that the instruction booklet mailed to most taxpayers has handy check lists of which expenses may be deducted.

In other tax deduction problems he said unmarried persons who qualify as "heads of households" benefit from lower tax rates.

Tax law provides special tax rates for you if you are unmarried (or legally separated) on the last day of the year and furnished over half the cost of maintaining a home for the full year for at least one relative, he added.

Whether the relative must qualify as a dependent and whether he must actually live in your home depends upon the relationship, Hook said.

All relatives, other than your parents, must actually live with you. With the exception of your unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild, all other relatives must qualify as your dependents, he explained.

Director Hook said taxpayers may receive helpful information concerning tax deductions by requesting information from the Internal Revenue Service.

Higher Bread Cost Not Due Wheat Support, Martin Says

STROUDSBURG — Price supports for wheat have had little relationship to the steadily increased prices consumers have been paying for a 1-pound loaf of white bread, according to A. W. Martin, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.
Rising costs of marketing and rising costs of processing wheat have caused increased retail bread prices, he said.

The farm value of the wheat in the loaf, however, fluctuated within a narrow range. In 1950, the farm value was 2.5 cents, and it was also 2.5 cents in 1963. The range during the 14 years (1950-63) was from a low of 2.3 cents in the 3 years 1958-60 to the all-time high of 2.7 cents in 1954 and 1955.

Percentage-wise, the wheat farmer received about 17 per cent of the retail price of a pound of bread in 1950; in 1963, he received about 12 per cent of a higher retail price.
During the same 14 years, Martin recalled, national average price supports for wheat ranged from a low of $1.78 per bushel in 1960 to a high of $2.23 in 1954. While the support price affected the price the farmer received for his wheat, the farm value of the wheat in a loaf of bread did not vary exactly with the support price.

Salvation Army Aides Attend Meet

EAST STROUDSBURG — Seventy Salvation Army Cadets recently attended a public relations seminar at the school for officers training in the Bronx, N.Y.

Major H. G. Baker, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army, and Daniel Warner, advisory board chairman participated in the session.

Major William Harvey, territorial public relations secretary was chairman of the program.

This was the fifth of a series of such sessions designed to give the cadets at the school some practical knowledge in various phases of public relations work, he said.
He added the local corps program was used as a model working program during these sessions.

Major Baker and Warner spoke about the local program, including the advisory board and Monroe County Community fund. The budget and service report for last year were also reviewed.

The cadets will be commissioned in June and receive appointments in various corps throughout the eastern territory. In addition, six men cadets will conduct the services at the local citadel as part of their field training on Sunday, April 12.

AWOL Marine Held For Theft

STROUDSBURG—A 17-year-old AWOL Marine from Camp Lejeune, N. C., is being held in the Warren County Jail, Lake George, N. Y., on charges of auto theft in Stroudsburg.
The youth reportedly stole the car of Thomas Manley, of 360 Queen St., Stroudsburg, late Sunday night or early Monday morning, according to John B. Trothway, Stroudsburg chief of police.
The juvenile was apprehended by New York State Police of the Glen Falls station. Arrangements are being made to return the youth to Stroudsburg for prosecution.

3-Car Accident Caused By Dog

BANGOR—A dog crossing Rt. 611 three miles north of Easton, yesterday about 8:30 a. m. caused a three-car collision.
Harry Eugene Peck, 28, of Bangor, RD 2, stopped his vehicle to allow the dog to cross the highway. A car driven by Lester J. Albaugh, 32, of Bethlehem, collided with the rear of the Peck vehicle after being struck in the rear by a car driven by Alfred R. Boettger, 18, of Martins Creek. Easton State Police investigated the accident and reported no injuries.

Area Planned Parenthood Drive Ends This Week

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Planned Parenthood Association announced yesterday that its 1964 campaign, which will end this week, Mrs. Peter Wyckoff is chairman of the campaign.

The drive is part of the first nationwide campaign of Planned Parenthood - World Population, which seeks to raise $9.4 million to expand its research, public education, and birth control services in the United States and overseas. The organization is concerned with the social and economic effects of the population explosion.

In making her forecast of campaign results, Mrs. Wyckoff said, however, "I appeal to everyone who has not yet made a contribution to do so now, in order that Planned Parenthood can step up its services to meet the challenge of uncontrolled population growth."

"Personally gratified" with the results thus far, "The response to this campaign," she added, "is a clear indication of the concern of the people of this community with the population crisis, which threatens living standards everywhere, and in some areas of the world, life itself."

In Stroudsburg, Mrs. Wyckoff went on to say, "couples are having more children than they want and can care for." Funds raised here, she said, will be spent for clinical birth control services "primarily for low-income, low-education families and for public education to present the facts about family planning to parents." She noted that funds would also be used for national programs of fertility research and for family planning programs in other countries, "where literally billions of underfed people are growing in numbers, faster than ever."

If anyone is interested in helping, contributions may be made to the Monroe County Planned Parenthood Assn., Box 7, East Stroudsburg, Pa.
